

After a Circumcision

Procedure Date: _____

Procedure performed by: _____

The Plastibell circumcision device usually drops off five to eight days after the circumcision.

A dark brown or black area around the plastic ring is natural and this will disappear when the ring drops off.

To clean:

- Your baby can be bathed and diapered just as if not circumcised.
- Frequent diaper changes may help to prevent irritation and infection.
- No special dressing is needed.
- Do not use Vaseline as it may cause the ring to slip off.

Contact your doctor if:

- Your baby has not urinated by 12 hours after procedure.
- There is swelling, redness more than 48 hours after procedure.
- There is a greenish or foul smelling discharge from the penis.
- Your baby develops a fever or seems to be unwell.
- The plastic ring has not fallen off within eight days.
- The ring has slipped onto the shaft of the penis.
- Healing does not proceed as described by the Health Care Provider.

Go to the Emergency Department if there is bleeding in a steady flow or drip.

Plastibell ring in place

Healed circumcision

